

BUFFALO MEAT

Compensated buffalo meat is a non greasy animal protein and is hence low in calories, fats and cholesterol. More so, is healthier than other meats because of its high protein content and non shrinkage quality while cooking. Containing the highest iron content, buffalo meat is the most nutritious form of consumed animal product.

We pride ourselves on providing the highest quality buffalo meat to our customers all over the world. Our compensated meat products are distinctly superior in quality we obtain them from vendors who raise their cattle in open-air and free-range environments in the style of traditional family farms.
